

TAKING PRIDE IN OUR MEMBERS

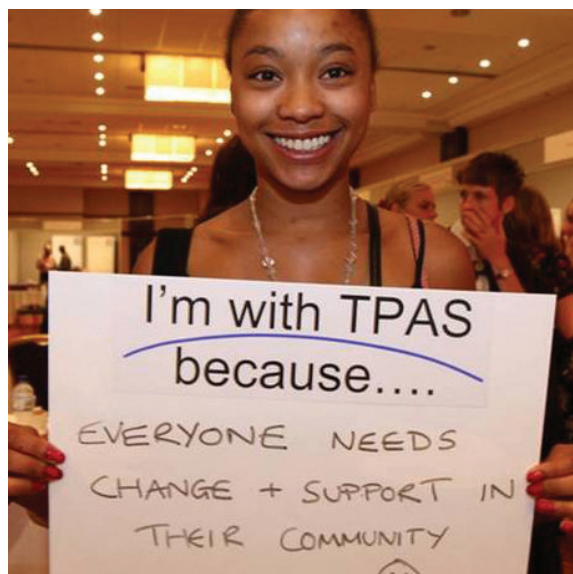

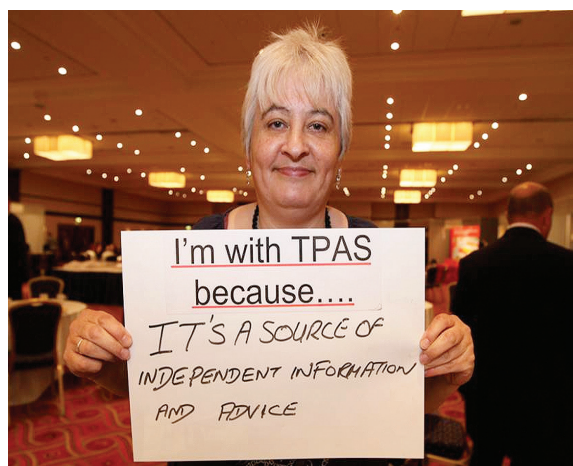

TPAS is the leading national tenant participation organisation and offers the “must have” membership for tenant involvement, open to both landlords and tenants.

It's the need and concerns of our members that have shaped TPAS and the services we offer, and it's this unique insight into the needs of all parties that helps us connect people and their communities and bring about positive change.

As one of the first organisations to specialise in tenant involvement at national level, we've been leading the way ever since; successfully joining up government policy with front-line service delivery and grassroots tenants' groups.

Our nationwide membership is made up of local tenants and their landlords, providing us with unique insight into the needs of all parties. With successful involvement we can get housing practitioners and tenants all working together to effect positive change in social housing communities.

Through our training, consultancy and events services, our members are given access to invaluable information and research, on-site support and training, opportunities to share knowledge with key sector professionals, and the chance to shape future government housing policy.
